DSFI's roll technology and superior packaging delivers value, performance and selection.

Superior Value

- Stable, long-held partnerships with leaders in the paper industry provide DSFI with competitive prices on superior raw materials – designed for high-speed printing.
- Experienced DSFI press operators run specially designed equipment calibrated for roll production. They understand the special care and precision required to produce reliable rolls for the data center.
- DSFI has designed flexible production and delivery schedules to support end-user requirements.

Consistent Performance

- Eleven different quality checks, pre and post-production, designed to insure your customer receives consistency from roll to roll. A zealous attention to detail builds quality and performance into each roll.
- Market-proven packaging and palletizing system protects DSFI roll product and provides safety measures for warehouse and data center personnel.
- Specially qualified laser papers are engineering stand up to the riggers of high-speed, higher temperature laser printers.

To those who own and operate roll-fed printing systems, the quality and reliability of continuous computer forms is of paramount importance. Printing tolerances are more critical. Replacing defective forms takes extra time. And the sheer volume of the printing you do creates more opportunities for problems to occur.

Fortunately DSFI has accelerated the development of roll technology and now produces superior products to satisfy high-speed printing needs. Special plastic packaging methods have also been created to assure that quality is not lost in transit.

Ask how DSFI helps distributors satisfy roll product users in these and other profitable applications:

Banking
Direct Mail
Education
Finance
General Business
Government
Healthcare
Insurance
Payroll Processing
Public Utilities

Extra care has been taken to protect DSFI roll products against dust and moisture. Added precautions assure stability during shipment as well as safe and easy handling by end-user personnel. We want the extra quality manufactured into each roll of DSFI computer forms to be clearly evident when used.

Review our packaging advantages with your DSFI sales representative. You'll be pleased to discover the many ways our special treatment of rolled papers will help to protect your customer's investment in computer forms and equipment.

Broad Selection

- A comprehensive offering of popular paper grades and basis weights in stock or custom printed formats.
- Wide variety of perf configurations, hole punches, multi-color with front/back printing and other enhancements can be ordered to aid forms processing speed and help lower end user costs.
- Experienced design and sales assistance from our in-plant specialists.

Talk with your DSFI sales representative about the many ways we can help you deliver superior products and services to roll product users.

At DSFI we want to help you chart a successful course to today's best profit opportunities.
